

Matt Carberry

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT, PAYMENT SOLUTIONS

As The Bancorp's Senior Vice President of Payment Solutions, Matt Carberry manages one of the nation's largest electronic payments sponsorship programs. Matt is responsible for collaborating with and empowering large-scale payments aggregators in the bill payment, funds transfer, merchant processing, payroll and fintech industries. These partnerships with The Bancorp represent hundreds of thousands of businesses and hundreds of millions of payments. Prior to joining The Bancorp, Matt held various senior positions in the healthcare and financial services industries.

Matt is a regular guest speaker at roundtable discussions and fireside chats at some of Silicon Valley's best-known fintech companies. He has also held several industry thought leadership roles, including serving on The Federal Reserve's Faster Payments Task Force, which is identifying and evaluating alternative approaches for implementing safe, ubiquitous, and faster payment capabilities in the United States.
